More Signage and Awareness

There are many excellent separated bikeways and shared paths which allow safe travel across much of Greater Adelaide. However, signage and promotion of these cycling routes and their connections is lacking. For example, the Patrick Jonker Veloway has no signage at the Main South Road entrance. Signage should also be installed at the nearby Sturt River Linear Trail to direct cyclists to the Patrick Jonker Veloway.

It is possible to cycle from Outer Harbor to Willunga on predominantly separated bikeways and shared paths, if you know where to go. More signage and promotion of these bikeways will encourage more locals and tourists to get out and give cycling a go!
